

2005 Workshop

Education: The Road to Enlightenment

29, 30 April & 1 May 2005
Delta Lodge at Kananaskis

Keynote Speaker Bro Dick Fletcher

Two years ago, Victor Popow showed us a “thousand” doors of learning we could choose to open in our search for light.

Dick Fletcher will show us how to achieve the “Eureka” of Enlightenment!

“Benjamin Franklin and Voltaire did not join a workers guild! They joined what they believed to be an educational society which was called ‘Freemasonry.’ These were extremely intelligent men who had no time to waste on things that were not important to them... What was it that they saw in Freemasonry that eludes us today?”

Dick Fletcher — “Masonic Education: A Subject Too Often Overlooked”

Who is this sage? Richard E Fletcher, PGM (Vermont), is a self-educated man who rose to prominence from humble beginnings in both business and the Craft. He joined the US Navy in 1953 from high school and rose to rank of Petty Officer in two years. On mustering out of the forces, he joined the world of banking as a messenger and retired 30 years later as Senior Vice President of the bank and Past President of the American Institute of Banking. His Masonic Career began in Burlington Vermont in 1956, rising to Grand Master, 1983–1985, and currently serving as the Executive Secretary/Treasurer of the Masonic Service Association of North America. If ever a man can demonstrate that Self-directed Education — the Masonic approach — is the Road to Enlightenment, Dick can!

Join us for a challenging and enlightening weekend that may change the way you view the teachings of the Craft.

Mark your calendars now! See you in 2005.
